ESCAPE TO THE ENCHANTED HILLS OF PARADISE

Flossy wouldn't even be the right word to describe this outlandish, but serenely majestic resort tucked away in the hills of Montego Bay, Jamaica. Covering over 17 acres, The Highland House Villa is a 7,000-square-foot, six-bedroom suite—so there's room for the grandparents too—surrounded by coconut plantations and bamboo forests.

Extra dope amenities include a private pool, rooftop sundeck, spa, private cook and butler. There's also snorkeling, horseback riding, rafting and even a bird watching tour. And for liquor aficionados, Appleton Rum Distillery is nearby for tours.

A week in paradise will cost a pretty penny, though, ranging from $4,900 in low season to $7,000 in the high season. (Kingsgate Road, Reading P.O., Montego Bay, Jamaica; 876-605-1377). —P. Frank Williams
